

By Jackie Coogan, Jr.

One day my daddy told me about a little boy named Peck. He was some terror!

I was wishing I could be like him when dad said I could play in a new picture.

I could break all the windows I wanted to! I could be just as bad as I could—

Without getting a spanking! It was a fine idea. I told my daddy so.

Of course, I missed working with Charlie. But still I saw him lots of Sundays after my nap. Charlie and I would go over to see Doug and Mary Pickford. We're neighbors, you know.

I love them all. They play with me and give me a boat to sail on their lake. In the warm weather Doug takes me swimming. He carries me 'way out on his shoulders.

He can do most everything. He taught me how to fence and box.

Doug is much funnier than Charlie.

I don't mean in pictures—but to play with.

When I'm with Charlie we talk about serious things. He likes to be serious.

But with Doug it's different. He never talks serious. He's always fooling and doing tricks. He carries me 'way out on his shoulders.

They are so nice—both of them. Most people are. Take Mr. Padgrewski, for example. He's one of my best friends. He sure can play the piano—even better than Charlie.

And he likes to play with me, too. One morning I was going to the studio with my daddy. Our auto turned over. I got all banged up. They took me to a hospital.

It was something like a hotel. But it smelled medicine all the time. People were sorry for me. I liked that.

But I didn't like being in bed so long—

When I might have been breaking windows like Peck.

NOTED AUTHOR TO LECTURE SOON AT U. OF NOTRE DAME

Dr. John Talbot Smith, Noted Stage Critic, Now Guest at University.

Dr. John Talbot Smith, noted author and one of the foremost critics of the American stage, is spending the week at Notre Dame university where he is to lecture to the summer school students.

Besides his books "The Black Cardinal," "His Honor The Mayor," and "The Solitary Isle," Father Smith is noted as the organizer of National League of Catholic Actors and as one of the founders of the Catholic Summer School on Lake Champlain. He has done much to maintain a high standard of respect for the stage and besides being a frequent contributor to the leading magazines of this country, he is a recognized authority on American and Irish history.

Coming from Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., one of the most historic spots on the Hudson river, Father Smith has wide acquaintance with facts and events incidental to the settling and development of that section of the country.

The date of Dr. Smith's lecture has not been announced but university authorities have stated that South Bend folk desirous of attending the lectures, may do so.

Observations Held Each Night at Notre Dame U.

Nightly astronomical observations are being made in the observatory at Notre Dame under the direction of Rev. E. De Wulf. With the aid of a powerful telescope donated by Napoleon III, and which was installed in 1887, several observations of Mars and other planets have recently been held for the classes in astronomy.

Illustrated lectures on astronomy will be given by Father De Wulf in Washington hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

BLACKSTONE

"Is Matrimony a Failure?" is a question which is not only worrying a lot of folks in South Bend, but is also giving Manager Rhodes of the Blackstone theater no little concern.

The reason for this is that because of the railroad situation they can have no definite assurance that this hilarious Paramount comedy will arrive in time for showings today as scheduled. If it does come in it will be at the Blackstone today. If it doesn't, some other good picture will be shown and "Is Matrimony a Failure?" showed ahead one day, as was the case with Tom Meighan and his "Bachelor Daddy."

"Is Matrimony a Failure?" comes to South Bend heralded as one of the very best comedies of the year. Besides Lila Lee, Walter Hiers, Lois Wilson and T. Roy Barnes, no less than a dozen of other stars equally well known flit through this comedy from time to time. It's a clever take-off on married life and it was produced for laughing purposes only. The roars and chuckles that you'll hear as the plot unfolds will be the best evidence of how well the producers have succeeded in their ambition to make a picture that's all fun.

Ogden and Benson, the clever team of entertainers who are an added attraction at the Blackstone this week, are just about the best of their kind ever seen here. People like them immensely.

LASALLE

"Sherlock Brown" was a detective of no mean ability and for that matter why shouldn't he be, for hadn't he completed a correspondence course in this profession and been awarded a diploma with a seal on it?

Fun!
Gaiety!!
Hilarity!!!

Have you heard them? Have you seen them? Say, if you haven't there's a real treat ahead for you.

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q—Has "Rodolph Valentino" drawing power suffered any loss on account of the notoriety he recently received?

A—Evidently the recent notoriety given to Rodolph Valentino has not impaired his standing with patrons of the films. Work has started on the production as per schedule, of his next, "The Young Rajah," which will again exploit him as an oriental. Reports to the producers from exhibitors show that there has been no drop in the box office value. Not for a year has there been a parallel to Valentino, a vogue.

Exhibitors, reflecting his popularity, are featuring his name in electric lights in every film in which he appears. Even those in which he plays a minor role are in demand; exhibitors want only a chance to play up his name.

Q—What photoplay gives intimate scenes of the daily life of the Eskimos within the Arctic circle?

A—"Nanook of the North," besides being entertaining to a high degree, is educational and enlightening.

Q—What was the outcome of the drama, "A Homespun Vamp," comes to the LaSalle on Friday.
